As a Reconciling
Congregation, members of First United Methodist Church have pledged to welcome and support all who want to worship with us,
regardless of race,
gender, class or sexual orientation.

Sunday morning after church, please visit our Farmer's Table at the Commons and enjoy freshly picked organic produce grown and sold by refugee Meskhetian Turkish farmers. While savoring fresh organic produce, you will be helping to support and encourage two families of refugee Meskhetian Turkish farmers who arrived in the Portland area last year. Now, with the help of Mercy Corps Northwest, they are farming Oregon-style in their new home!

Our Hunger Task Force and Planet Church Committee invite you to bring your welcoming smiles to our guest farmers and take home some scrumptious veggies every Sunday morning this summer!

ABOUT HAYAT FARMS

The Meskhetian Turks are political refugees from Uzbekistan who arrived in Portland in 2005. Over the past 60 years, their families were subjected to ethnic violence and many episodes of relocation within the former Soviet Union. Upon their arrival in the United States, they began talking about farming once again.

The refugee families are hoping to make farming a full-time job in order to support their families and become part of the farming community. The business training they are receiving from Mercy Corps Northwest is helping them achieve this goal.

If you would like more information about this program you can contact: Monique Dupre at 503/715-349 or contact Mercy Corps Northwest at: contact@mercycorpsnw.org.

School Supplies NEEDED

Summer is a great time to get good buys on school supplies! The Children Ministries of First Church, is participating in the Every Child Deserves School Supplies Drive. Collection boxes will be available in the narthex, starting September 3, 2006.

If you have questions about this effort please contact Agnes Zach at the church office at 503/228-3195 ext. 227 or email her at: azach@fumcpdx.org.

Ours is a small act of hospitality—just a token, really.

Last Sunday we welcomed two families of refugee Meskhetian Turks who brought tables full of fresh produce to sell. They arrived in this country last year and are seeking to establish a truck-farming business. Led by our Planet Church and Hunger Task Force, we have joined forces with Mercy Corps and Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon to help them settle. I understand there was a good response this week—they will return each Sunday for the remainder of the season.

Hospitality is a core value in our heritage. Leviticus (like Deuteronomy) puts the issue directly and clearly: “Treat the foreigner the same as a native. Love him like one of your own. Remember that you were once foreigners in Egypt.” (Leviticus 19:34 as found in Eugene, Peterson’s, The Message: The Bible in Contemporary Language). During the days of the patriarchs, the wandering, nomadic Hebraic tribes embraced all who sought refuge. Even an enemy would receive a couple of days of food, shelter and respite.

Two millennia later Jesus commended those who received the alien: “I was a stranger and you welcomed me in.” (Matthew 25:35 NRSV) Hospitality was tested by despised Roman occupiers who could commandeer their subjects to carry their baggage for a mile. Jesus insisted that his disciples not respond with anger and resistance, but with overwhelming hospitality. “...if anyone forces you to go one mile, go also the second mile” he urged. (Matthew 5:41 NRSV)

What has happened to such attitudes recently?

The media is filled with voices of fear and anger. Much of the public seems rigidly xenophobic and rabidly inhospitable.

Hospitality seems to be an endangered commodity in the legislative halls, too. Caught up in ideological polarizations, Congress is deadlocked on how welcoming the US will be. Last December, the House passed one of the most restrictive immigration reform packages ever seen. In its provisions undocumented aliens would not only be unwelcome—but classified as criminals. In May, the Senate passed milder reforms, authored by an unlikely threesome: Senators Harry Reid (D-Nevada), John McCain (R-Arizona) and Ted Kennedy (D-Massachusetts.) The solon’s version establishes a ‘guest worker program’ and defines clear paths to citizenship. The two branches are stalemated in committee seeking a compromise.

In response, our General Board of Church and Society is seeking 100,000 United Methodists who will sign the following pledge:

We pledge ourselves as followers of Christ to stand with our immigrant neighbors who have come to the United States from throughout the world. We recognize immigrants as human beings made in the image of God and we prayerfully commit ourselves to support laws that affirm their dignity, preserve their families, and acknowledge the value of their presence among us.

Sounds a lot like those values we inherited from our scriptures!
 See you in Church.

First Church youth are once again selling shares to help raise funds for this summer's mission trip. Everyone who purchases a share will receive a postcard from the trip, and will be invited to a “shareholder's dinner” in the Fall, featuring a slide show of the trip and the work done. To purchase a share, please contact one of our youth or Paul Adams, or write "Youth Mission Share" in the check memo and put it in the collection plate.
