HAPPY BIRTHDAY GOOSE HOLLOW FAMILY SHELTER

In January, 1994 this congregation opened the doors of The Goose Hollow Winter Family Shelter to respond to the urgent need for housing, especially for families with children. Over the years the shelter has expanded and matured and now it operates year-round under the management of a new 'not-for-profit' agency, Portland Homeless Family Solutions. But it is still First Churches' shelter and we want to be sure our support remains as strong as ever.

When you make a contribution or volunteer, you make sure that First Church continues to reach out in support, compassion, and shelter to homeless families with children. Members of our Church & Society ministry team will be available each Sunday in January to help make the process of volunteering at Goose Hollow easy. If you have questions about volunteering, donations or any other information about the shelter, contact the shelter's volunteer coordinator, Allie at: allie@pdxhfs.org or 503/915-8307.

memo

Rev. Dr.
Arvin R.
Luchs

It may have been my most difficult decision—to seek retirement following our region’s Annual Conference in June. There was no pressure to do so—not even from my wife. I love this vocation and find sheer pleasure serving this congregation with its rich faith, deep commitment to inclusiveness, amazing music program, dynamic members and vibrant energy for outreach and mission. I work with an amazing and capable staff and a superb group of elected leaders.

Those leaders have been working for some months to discern God’s call for the future of this congregation and, I believe, are “spot on” in their focus on “connections.” While it would be great to help make that happen—this seemed to be a good time to open the door to another pastor, with new energy, different skills and insights who can help guide that effort from the start.

And, then, I’ve been employed at (or near) full-time since the summer following my freshman year in high school. Fully ordained United Methodist clergy are eligible for full retirement after 40 years of service. I’ve accumulated nearly 43--not counting several years as a youth director. Sue, my wife, had already decided to retire in June. It seemed wise to join her and build life’s “third chapter” together while we still have vigor and vision.

So for the last two or three months I have been taking time to ponder, assess, discern and pray—and a few weeks ago shared my decision that God’s call was to a new phase of life: retirement.

As he announced this during worship, Richard Allan spoke briefly of what will happen in the weeks to come. Let me fill in a bit more.

Our personnel committee (United Methodists call them the SPRC—Staff-Parish Relations Committee) is already refining our congregation’s self-profile and discussing what gifts and graces they feel the next Senior Minister should possess. He has invited your input!

In a week or so they will offer those insights to the Bishop and his Cabinet through Metro’s Assistant to the Bishop, Dr. Lowell Greathouse. Their insights and advice could not be handed into more careful or knowledgeable hands.

Following that is a time of collaboration that may take several rounds. Because it involves sensitive matters, this phase is conducted confidentially. What’s happening (behind the scenes) is the Cabinet—through Dr. Greathouse—will ponder the profile and record of clergy to identify leaders who match both the needs and the spirit of First UMC. They will settle on the best candidate—and seek his/her willingness to move. Normally those considered are currently serving in Oregon or southern Idaho.

Assuming the candidate (and their family) agrees to the move, their profile will be introduced to our SPRC to secure their support. With everyone’s agreement, a private meeting between the candidate and the SPRC—led by the Assistant to the Bishop—tests to be sure everyone is comfortable.

An announcement to our congregation—then to the Conference would come soon after.

Most of the time, it all works compatibly. But sometimes the congregation, the candidate—even, (occasionally) the Cabinet—will have reservations, concerns or second thoughts that compel backtracking and rethinking. Then the consultative cycle begins again—until a mutually agreeable candidate is appointed.

It’s an amazing process—but with the candor and collegiality of both the SPRC, Cabinet and candidate—it works remarkably well. I have every confidence it will for us!

In the meantime, we still have nearly six months to be together in ministry, to listen to God’s call—and to change lives and the world. As I said during Sunday’s worship, we’ll have plenty of time to share our farewell’s closer to June! Now we have ministry to do together!

See you in Church!

Arvin

volunteers in mission

the holy land

COME TO BETHLEHEM: A HOLY LAND TOUR

For some, the words "Holy Land" evoke an image of Biblical times – Jesus preaching in Galilee, shepherds tending flocks, fishermen fishing for food – and for men. For others, the words bring up a vivid image of modern times – complete with conflict and "separation walls." The Global Mission committee would like to offer the opportunity for those interested to visit Palestine/Israel and to see for themselves the beauty and heartache of this troubled, yet magical place. A United Methodist Volunteer in Mission team is being formed to visit the Holy Land October 22 – November 5, 2011. The trip will be led by Dee Poujade, co-chair of the Global Mission committee and veteran of six UMVIM trips, and will be hosted by Janet Lahr Lewis, First UMC covenant missionary in the Holy Land.

The trip will include visits to such locales as the Old City of Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Nazareth, Capernaum and the Mt. of Beatitudes, as well as opportunities to meet with Palestinian Christians and members of Jewish and Muslim groups who are working together toward peace in the Middle East. There will also be a work project commensurate with the abilities and interests of group participants (possibly helping with the olive harvest.)

On January 16, 2011, following the church service, an informational meeting will be held in the Fireside Room. Attendance at this meeting does not obligate anyone to participate in the trip; however, those attending will have the first opportunity to sign up for what promises to be a life-changing experience. Estimated cost of the trip is $3,000, which will include round-trip airfare from Portland to Tel Aviv, as well as accommodations and meals while in Palestine/Israel. Anyone who would like additional information can call Dee Poujade at 503/243-3337 or e-mail deelaw33@hotmail.com.
